Key BFVEA activities

- operate with the Bach Centre, as the Confederation of Registered Essence Practitioners (COREP) the lead body for essence therapy;
- raise interest in and awareness of flower and other vibrational essences in the UK and overseas;
- provide guidelines, set standards and accredit your courses for training essence practitioners;
- monitor and advise on current legal requirements for essence therapy and production;
- provide the public with a list of registered essence practitioner members;
- offer an affordable block insurance scheme for our essence practitioners and producers;
- present an informative website offering information about essences and the BFVEA;
- publish a professional, illustrated magazine ESSENCE, and a quarterly e-newsletter – both containing current articles, thoughts and research on essences;
- act as a forum for research into all aspects of essence use in which members can be involved.
